Foreword

Day by day graduates of Baldwin leave to serve in the Armed Forces. With this thought in mind we have chosen to send a letter, describing our school life, to an alumnus in the service, whom we address as Jack. It is supposedly written by two members of the 1943 class.

Jack, we believe, would be interested in hearing how his old Alma Mater is progressing, and how those he remembers as underclassmen are carrying on in his place. To add to the familiarity of our book we have, in each division, selected song titles that are popular around Baldwin, along with a few that might have been his favorites when he was still a student.

For Jack, representing our alumni fighting in their country, for all Baldwinites who are or were in the service, and for you, we hope this will be a lasting remembrance of this first year of a full high school career in Baldwin.

HAND IN HAND AT BALDWIN
"THE HANDS OF MAN ARE SYMBOLS OF HIS ACTIVITIES. AS WE LOOK AT THE HAND OF THE TEACHER, THE STUDENT, THE ATHLETE, WE SEE THE STORY OF THE INDIVIDUAL. AS YOU READ THIS BOOK, WE HOPE YOU WILL COME TO REALIZE THE IMPORTANT PART MANY BUSY HANDS AT BALDWIN HIGH HAVE PLAYED THROUGHOUT THE SCHOOL YEAR 1948-1949."

The time has come when some of us must say a final good-bye to our familiar school life and to the classmates who shared it with us. We regret this change, but at the same time we look eagerly ahead to the future. "Building blocks for the future" is a fitting theme to be in this yearbook. It represents the coming of age, the growing personality and character of the high school, and we have tried to express

Foreword....

During the past four years, we have been drawn together by a spirit of loyalty and good fellowship. As we prepare to leave, there remains in our minds one memory which is symbolic of our years at Baldwin. In the lines of our school song, we find everything that Baldwin High School means to us. In this year's Balthei, we have tried to hand down to our successors, through the theme of the Alma Mater, an expression of our feelings.

the superintendent's message saying farewell to those you respect and admire is never easy. in my more than 45 years in public education it has been my privilege to bid a fond farewell to many thousands of high school students as they embarked on new and varied careers.

many of these are no longer living; many others are themselves nearing retirement age. some are just started in college, in the armed services, or in industry. did they chart courses for themselves or did they drift with the tide? did they build or tear down? were they peace makers or revolutionaries? would that i could learn how they all fared.

some of them must have been involved in some way with the tremendous strides made by the greatest nation history has ever known. it is quite probable that some who passed through these halls are now engaged in righting the wrongs of racism which has long flourished in our land. i am sure that many are involved in research and discoveries that have brought and will continue to bring better health and longer life to all people.

there must be at least a few of our own among the many who are today battling great odds in their search for solutions to the problems of hunger and pollution.

it is very probable that some are deeply involved in the astronomical miracles that are emblazoned before our wondering eyes.

we know only too well and sadly deplore the many of our own who have given and continue to give their very lives in the seemingly fruitless struggle for peace and justice in our world.

involvement in these and many other great endeavors, too numerous to mention, must mean that certain results are being sought. we can't live on their laurels. so much more needs to be done.

each of you must decide for yourself what results you want, have faith in your own decision and set your goal there. if your goals are achieved by demonstrating, marching, shouting, and rioting, then you must do that. if it takes burning, looting, and killing, then you must do that. curiously such means are so negative as to promise little or nothing of lasting value. goals are achieved, i think, by determination and self-discipline, hard work, study, planning, and looking ahead to the consequences of our actions.

as i write my last message to such a graduating class as this and say a farewell to teachers and students, i am assured that america is still in good hands. right will prevail. why am i so sure? because i have faith in you!

W. Robert Paynter

to the 1970 graduates

as this era in your life ends, pause to ask, "am i meeting the challenges of this scientific world in such a manner that i will ensure more productive years?"

that life is not stationary is one of the great truths which modern science has taught us. since we do not live in an insulated box which could protect us from the many challenges of the world, we must accept the challenges of the fast moving world.

we should expand our consciousness in order that we become acutely aware of ourselves and of others. each careful consideration on the minuteness of life shall be reflected in a change not only in ourselves but also in the world: when one life changes, the world changes.

if we gladly accept the challenges of today and eagerly await the challenges of tomorrow, we will have assurance that we will be able to look forward to more productive years.
